

This is an INTERACTIVE PDF: Click on the poster to take you to YouTube!

the curious geographer
the YouTube channel for geography students

Videos released weekly to extend your subject knowledge and succeed in exams

WEEKLY LIVE INTERVIEWS

- Each week The Curious Geographer hosts live interviews on geographical topics
- Deepen your understanding of human and physical environments developing synoptic links
- Unpick key A Level concepts including risk, sustainability and mitigation to enable you to think critically as a geographer.
- Watch live to ask questions to guests. Available online after so you catch up with ones you missed

All live interviews are uploaded a week before so you can press the reminder button and get an email sent to you

LIVE INTERVIEWS ONLINE TO WATCH NOW

UPCOMING GUESTS FOR SUMMER 2020

- 4th June Dr Kimberley Thomas Temple University, will discuss water security across borders
- 11th June Understand the the climate emergency with Ed Brewster
- 18th June Learn how to use the online mapping programme Layers of London with Adam Corsini
- 25th June Ilan Kelman, UCL, shares his ideas covered in his book Disaster by Choice
- 2nd July To talk geopolitics we welcome Tim Marshall author of Prisoners of Geography
- 9th July Dr Christopher Pater, will tell us how building off shore wind farms reveals Britain's glacial landscapes
- 16th July The role of peatlands in the carbon cycle will be examined with Dr Susan Page, University of Leicester

Guests include academics, journalists and professionals from across the globe

Why you should SUBSCRIBE to TCG

- Topics to support UCAS applications
- updated WEEKLY so you never miss out
- LIVE interviews with academics which can be watched at home
- FREE resources from an A Level examiner to help you get those A*s

Understand how to stand out from the crowd in essays and applications with these A* tips

Get prepared to study geography at university

Subscribe and follow the curious geographer @thecuriousgeog the_curious_geographer